LOOK OUT FOR THE BRIDGE. A THEATRICAL INCIDENT.

Some years ago the manager of a "well regulated theatre" some where along the line

One night she was announced to appear in their way into the pit, near the footlights, particularly anxious to see the new comedienne. The house was crowded, and atter the subsidence of the general applause which greete i her appearance, one of the boatmen slapped his companion on the shoulder, and enough to be heard over half the house:

"Bill, I know that gal!"

"Pshaw!" said Bill, "dry up." "But I'm d-d if I don't, now, B II.-Its Sal Flukins, as sure as yo're born. She's old Flukins' daughter as used to run the Injured Polly, and she used to sail with him." "Tom," said Bill, "you're a fool, and if you don't stop your infernal clack, you'll git out out. Sal Flukins! You know a sight if you think that's her." Tom was silenced but not convinced. He

"I tell ve. Bill, that's her. I know 'tis .-You can't fool me-I know her too well!"

Tom, without minding the admonition, said, "You just wait-I'll fix her-keep your eye on her

Sure enough, he did fix her. Watching his opportunity when the actress was deeply atsorbed in her part, he sang out in a voice which rang through the galleries, "Low Bridge!"
From force of babit the actress instantly and involuntarily ducked her head to avoid the anticipated collision. Down came the house with a perfect thunder of applause at this "palpable hit," high above which Tom's voice could be heard, as he returned Bill's punch in the ribs with interest. "Didn't I tell ye, old boy. I know'd 'twas her. You can't feel me."

GERMAN TREE-FROG.

Returning from the University of Giessen, I brought with me about a dozen green treefrogs, which I had caught in the woods near the town. The Germans call them Laub Fresch, or leaf-frog. They are most difficult things to find, on account of their color so much resembling the leaves on which they live .-I have frequently heard one singing in a small bush, and though I have searched earefully, bave not been able to find him. The only way is to remain quite quiet till he again begins his song. After much ambush work, at length I collected a dozen frogs and put them in a bottle. I started at night on my homeward journey by the diligence same, and I pledge myself to spare no pains to and I put the bottle containing the frogs in- give satisfaction. All GOODS warranted to be to the pocket inside the diligence. My fellow-passengers were sleepy, old, smoke-dried Germans; very little conversation took place. himself to sleep, and soon all were snoring I suddenly awoke with a start and found the sleepers had been roused at the same mecord, all twelve of them had begun their morning song. As if at a given signal, they ment of the conch, q ite deafening; well might the Germans look angry; they wanted to throw the frogs, bottle and all, out of the window, but I gave the bottle a good shaking, and made the frogs keep quiet .-The Germans all went to sleep again, but I was obliged to remain awake to shake the frogs when they began to croak. It was lucky that I did so for they tried to begin their concert again two or three times -

The charter of this Company offers more favorable advantages to the tarmer and others than any other company chartered in the State by insuring with or without a premium note. i the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves one eighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay: or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves nearly one half of the amount charged by Stock Companies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of THE CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE

This company commenced issuing Policie against loss or damage by fire, on the lifth March, 1854, since which time over five tho sand seven hundred persons have insured and be come members of the Company, and over this thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having trebled our business during the next year, we feel grateful for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the Company thus far, and for its flattering prospects of future usefulness. The
